Walbundrie Network of Schools combined Cultural Curriculum Day

Last Thursday four schools came to Brocklesby to see an African performance. Sam told us about his life of growing up in a jungle. Every rainy day was a no school day. The school class and library was under a tree and the playground was up in the tree. Sam’s friend got bitten by a python and his grandfather killed the python and made a bag with pockets out of the snake skin. His grandfather had 36 kids and he didn’t show it to any of them, not even his three wives. Sam’s grandmother was chased by 20 apes.

Sam told us lots of stories and he showed us some instruments. Josh and I went up and played 2 instruments along with 3 other kids from the different schools. We also did some African activities. It was a great day.

We got to make lions out of paper and colour them in and cut them out. I played a spider in the story of a spider and a turtle. I was trying to get to the bottom of the dam to eat with the turtle. It was lots of fun.
